Third Sunday in Lent

During Lent we journey with all those around the world who will be baptized at the Easter Vigil. In today's gospel Jesus tells Nicodemus that he must be born of water and Spirit. At the font we are given a new birth as children of God. As God made a covenant with Abraham, in baptism God promises to raise us up with Christ to new life. From worship we are sent forth to proclaim God's love for all the world.

First Reading: Exodus 17:1-7

Psalm 95

Second Reading: Romans 5:1-11

Gospel: John 4:5-42

Soup Supper Discussion Prompt

Have a hot bowl of soup and warm conversation!

TONIGHT, March 9th

How would you describe your relationship with God? Are there pieces of the relationship that are easy? Pieces that are hard?

What are ways that you have developed or built up your relationship with God? When do you feel far away from God?

What does living in "right relationship with God" look like to you? How does this relate to the earlier questions you discussed together?

NEXT WEEK, March 16th

What are the relationships that you see as role models in your life? Not just romantic relationships, but friendships or collegial relationships as well.

What makes you admire or respect these relationships?

As a community, country, and world, what are the communal relationships you think we do well? What are some relationships on a communal basis that simply don't seem to work, and why do you think that is?

Why is living in right relationship with certain groups or people seemingly one of the hardest things for us to do when it comes to "righteousness"?

What Does Lent Mean To Me

by Udo Wozny

"But when you fast, put oil on your head and wash your face, so that you fasting may be seen not by others but your Father who is in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you." (Matthew 6:17-18, NRSV)

"Do you have any Lent practices?" After that question was asked during a Bible study, there was a long moment of silence! (Reflect on Matthew 6:17-18 above.) Then, one answer related to the preparation for Good Friday and Easter. Another answer related to skipping some food items. I was silent because I don't have any specific Lent practices. But there is more ...

Reflecting on my upbringing in West-Germany, my Protestant church community did not have many Lent practices that I knew of. The exceptions were the Lent readings and Confirmation.

The time between Ash Wednesday and Maundy Thursday, the 40 Days of Lent, should be a time of reflection.

One time, Lent was for me that time of reflection. My church community used that Lent time for confirmation candidates, including myself, to have the pre-confirmation testing one Sunday afternoon, followed or week or two later with the Confirmation worship service. That was topped with the first Holy Communion service for us confirmands on Maundy Thursday. Yes - at that time one had to be confirmed to receive communion.

For the earliest Christians, Lent was the time of preparation to be accepted as members of the Christian communities. The acceptance of new members happened during the Easter Vigil (Easter Eve) worship service. The service also included the Baptism of the new members. As a learned person told me, acceptance was NOT an easy process. Prospective members were frequently asked to reflect some more and come back next year! To be a Christian could be dangerous at that time!

I don't like rigid schedules. A time of reflection should be a year around process and not solely based on a liturgical calendar. Here is an advertising for reflection opportunities:

Join a Bible study or any other type of study offered by Bethel or the Montana Synod.

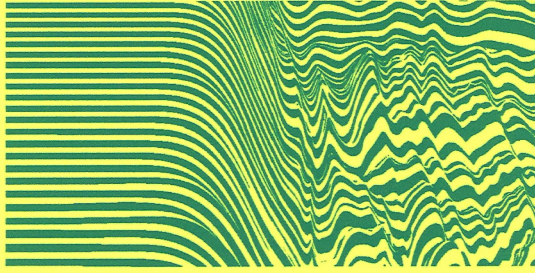

Read books relating to your reflection needs.

These opportunities do not equate to a "confirmation testing" that asked for the "correct" answers to questions about the Apostle's Creed, the Lord's Prayer, Bible verses, hymns, etc. One should be encouraged to ask questions, or "Living the Question" (a course that I took in Texas).

Many opportunities are offered year-round. Worship services by definition do not always allow for dialogs or questions.

I applaud all who have Lent practices. You honor the crucified AND risen LORD!

GOSPEL MESSAGE

March 12, 2023

Third SUNDAY IN LENT

Gushing with Grace

The word gush has nuances of meaning. On the one hand, it can speak to large amounts of a liquid flowing forth. A geyser gushing water is quite different than a leaky faucet letting water through a drop at a time. On the other hand, gush can speak to our enthusiasm about a person, place, or experience. A person gushing about a new movie to a friend carries different energy than someone saying, "Eh, it was okay."

In today's gospel we get the first sense of this word as Jesus tells the Samaritan woman about the water he will give, which will become a spring that gushes up to eternal life. The word gush is not used again in the story, but the second part of the narrative gathers up the spirit of the other sense of gush as the woman goes back to the city and shares her experience of Jesus. Many in the city come to believe because of her witness; she must have been gushing forth energy and excitement about her encounter with Jesus.

As the church takes on the ministry of Jesus after the resurrection, we find other people springing forth in the same way Jesus talks about water gushing. Peter heals someone in Acts 3:8 who jumps up and leaps (gushes) in praise. Paul also heals someone in Acts 14:10 who springs up (gushes) and walks.

The water in your baptismal font may be still, or it may be moving; it may be more reminiscent of a trickle than a gush. Yet we know that it is God's word that gives the plain water the power to shape us as God's people. Baptism is never a trickle; it is always a gush of grace poured out for us with the endless love and mercy of God. May we be blessed to gush along with the Samaritan woman about our experiences of Jesus among us.

Wilderness wandering

Exodus 17:1-7

The Israelites followed Moses through the wilderness. They were very thirsty for  but they didn't trust God to provide what they needed. Instead they complained to Moses.

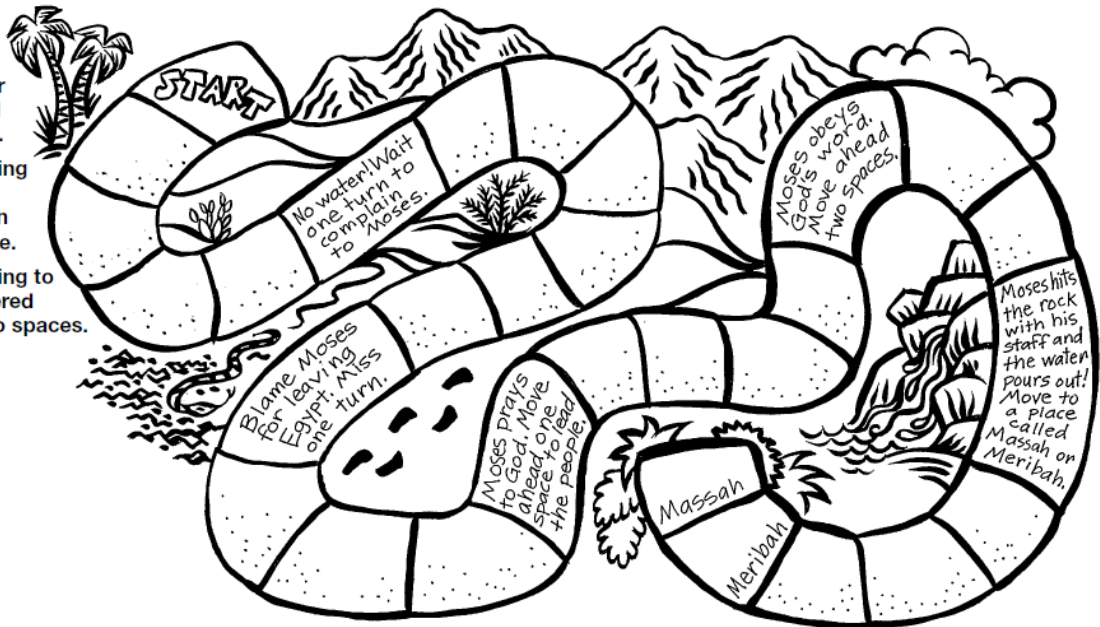

Are there songs or hymns about living water in today's worship? Write the page numbers here:

Find the end of the story by playing this wilderness wandering game.

Close your eyes, open your hymnbook, and point to a page.

If you are pointing to an odd-numbered hymn move one space.

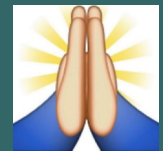

If you are pointing to an even-numbered hymn move two spaces.

The water at baptism gives us new life. We are all sisters and brothers in God's family.

Draw crosses on foreheads or clothes to show that all of the people belong to God's family.

This week... notice how many times you use water each day. Use only as much as you need of this precious gift from God.

Dear Lord,
Thank you for loving all of us. Amen
